

eOrder Printing Update

On the 7th of January 2019 we will be changing the way that eOrders are printed. eOrder printing can currently be impacted by changes made to software outside of our control. This can result in a negative experience placing an eOrder after 3rd party updates. To mitigate this, we are changing eOrder printing to use the built in Microsoft Windows printing.

When finalising an eOrder the buttons at the bottom right of the screen will still look like this:

“Place Order” will now bring up the Windows print dialogue.

Simply select your desired printer and click “Print”. Clicking cancel will mean no form is printed, however the order will still be placed.

This change will happen on the 7th of January 2019.

No action is required on your behalf, we will manage the change on the server.

As always, we are available to support you should you encounter any issues or have any queries. Email: support@pathlab.co.nz

Many thanks, the Pathlab support team.
